Let's Start!

It's time to check out with Vanessa!

Learning Outcome

Accurately exchange information about buying things in communicative situations.

Ask your partner:

- What do you buy at the supermarket?
- What are your favorite items?
- How do you save money?

Can Do Statements

- I can understand and use weights, prices and sizes.
- I can express how far or how near objects are using this, that, these, those.
- I can give basic instructions.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa is at the checkout. What does she buy?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Vanessa: Let's go to that cashier.
Cashier: Excuse me, Ma'am. This checkout line is for customers with 10 items or less.
Vanessa: I have less than 10 items. I have coupons too.
Cashier: Put those down on the belt. Push your cart through.
Vanessa: Okay. How much do these potatoes weigh?
Cashier: 3 pounds.
Vanessa: Okay, how much are these large potatoes per pound?
Cashier: Let me do a price check ... $1.50. Do you want them?
Vanessa: Yes, please.
Cashier: Do you have a points card?
Vanessa: Yes.
Cashier: Swipe it through the machine. Your total is $20.10. How do you want to pay? Debit or credit?
Vanessa: Debit.

Let's Practice!

Learning Points

Demonstrative Adjectives and Pronouns

Demonstratives are words that show the person or thing you are talking about.

The demonstratives are: this, that, these and those.

Demonstratives tell us about number (singular or plural) and distance (near or far).

Those sweet potatoes look great. Pass me one please.

There are demonstrative adjectives and demonstrative pronouns.

A demonstrative adjective tells us about the noun. It comes before the noun.

This potato is good. That potato is not good.

How much do these potatoes weigh? I like those sweet potatoes.

A demonstrative pronoun replaces a noun. It is on its own.

This is good. That is bad.

I like these. I don't like those.
