Let's Start!

Writing Spot: Vanessa and Peter plan a dinner party. What are they cooking? I smell curry ...

Learning Outcome

Accurately exchange information about buying things in communicative situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can ask where things are in a supermarket.
- I can write a recipe.
- I can express how far or how near objects are.

Ask your partner:

- What things do you like buying at your favorite supermarket?
- What ingredients do you use in your favorite recipe?

Let's Explore!

Vanessa and Peter are having a dinner party – an Indian feast! Listen as the clerk* helps them find everything the recipe calls for**.

* "Feast" means a large meal.

 In a recipe, to "call for" means need.

 A "clerk" is a person who works in a store.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Clerk: Can I help you?
Vanessa: I have the recipe. We are in a hurry.
Clerk: No, problem. What's the first thing you need?
Vanessa: Where can I find coconut milk?
Clerk: Right here! Look down.
Vanessa: Ahhh ... I'll grab these two cans.
Peter: Great! Where is the fruit and vegetable section? We need potatoes, some garlic and spices.
Clerk: Those items are in the fruit and vegetable section in aisle 4. The spices are at the front of the store, hot spices on the right, mild spices on the left.
Vanessa: I like to buy rice in bulk.
Clerk: We have some in the back. Is a 10-kilogram bag big enough?
Peter: Perfect! How much is the bag?
Clerk: 10 dollars. I'll go grab it for you. Just one of those bags?
Vanessa: Yes, thank you so much for your help.

Let's Practice!

Peter and Vanessa are in a hurry. They can't find the coconut milk. Where can they find it?

Instructions: Draw a line from the first part of the statement on the left to the second part on the right.

Demonstrative Adjectives

Demonstratives are words that show the person or thing you are talking about.
The demonstratives are: this, that, these and those.

Demonstratives tell us about number (singular or plural) and distance (near or far).
There are demonstrative adjectives and demonstrative pronouns.
You use demonstrative adjectives this and that to modify singular nouns.
You use demonstrative adjectives these and those to modify plural nouns.

A demonstrative adjective tells us about the noun. It comes before the noun.
This potato is good. That potato is bad.
I like these sweet potatoes. I don't like those sweet potatoes.

A demonstrative pronoun replaces a noun.
This is good. That is bad.
I like these. I don't like those
